Covid-19 Disclosure and Waiver of Liability

Due to the ongoing public health pandemic and related risks associated with the Novel Coronavirus (“COVID-19”), it is necessary for Cragmont Assembly, Inc., to notify you of certain facts and ask you to agree to additional guidelines that would normally not be involved with activities at Cragmont.

We consider the health and safety of our campers, staff, and volunteers to be a partnership. We commit to doing our part by following the guidelines established by public health officials, and we ask that you commit to doing your part as well. Additionally, we ask that you sign this document so that we have a record of this Notice to you. If you do not feel comfortable signing this document, we certainly understand, but we cannot allow participation in activities at Cragmont Summer Camp 2021 without it and the completed Pre-Camp Health Screening Log. If you have questions about this document, please contact Executive Director, Matthew Daughtry-Grubbs.

By signing, you agree that you have read this Notice and each statement below in their entirety and have not been forced, coerced, or misled into signing. Please understand that we are doing our absolute best to navigate these unprecedented times and provide a safe and enjoyable camp experience for all.

We hereby acknowledge that:

- We have been informed and received a copy of the COVID-19 specific Policies and Procedures for Summer Camp 2021 implemented by Cragmont Assembly, Inc. for participation in activities at Cragmont, and we agree that those policies and procedures implemented are reasonable and follow the best-practices guidance set out by public health officials nationally and locally.
- We understand and accept that participating in activities at Cragmont carries inherent risks including but not limited to the risk of contraction and/or transmission of illness, disease, or sickness that may lead to serious bodily injury and even death.
- We agree (and for our heirs, assigns, agents, or representatives) to be bound to forever hold harmless and release Cragmont Assembly, Inc., its staff, volunteers, and Board of Directors, from any and all liability or responsibility for the contraction and/or transmission of any illness, disease, or sickness related to participating in activities at Cragmont.
- We agree to do our part by following all reasonable guidelines for personal behavior while at Cragmont, and policies and procedures implemented by Cragmont Assembly, Inc., its staff, volunteers, and Board of Directors, while we participate in activities at Cragmont.
- We agree that if, in the two weeks prior to camp, we begin to experience symptoms consistent with COVID-19, or have been physically exposed to someone who has received a positive test for or diagnosis of COVID-19, we will immediately inform the Camp Week Director and will voluntarily withdraw from all activities and contact with others at Cragmont.
